Heads of Railway Unions to Meet Today—Vacationists
Will Give Their Side.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The railway labor board may hand down its decision fixing new wage schedules for all classes of railroad workers next week. No date can be set definitely, however, according to Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, as reconsideration of the widely divergent opinions of the members representing the roads and the men. Admitting that there was a natural difference of opinion as to what increases should be granted, the chairman said no unresolvable difficulties had been encountered.

Get Wilson Message.
Publication today in Washington of the text of President Wilson's message asking the board to expedite its award, cleared up the mystery which has surrounded the telegram, receipt of which had been denied by members of the board. Judge Barton, after reading the published text, announced that the message was sent to him last Monday marked "personal and confidential" and that he had therefore withheld it from the rest of the board.

Judge Barton declined to make public his answer, but said he would be glad to have the president do so. The request embodied in the president's message that, if a complete award could not be made, the board should recommend a partial settlement, could not be acted on, Judge Barton said, as the hundred or more separate schedules are all related, and it may be necessary to revise awards made in previous years when all the figures are compiled.

Move to End Strike.
Two moves looking toward settlement of the series of sporadic railway strikes will be taken here tomorrow. Heads of all the recognized railway unions will meet for a conference at which the strike situation will be discussed and also will endeavor to learn more definitely when the railway board's decision will be announced.

Tomorrow night the Chicago Yardmen's association and the United Engine-men's association—the two organizations of "railway vacationists"—as the strikers term themselves—will hold a mass meeting to urge the public to the true side of the present railroad situation and just what means have been employed to bring the present controversy to a successful conclusion.

Reports compiled here show that the present wave of strikes authorized by the brotherhood chiefs is confined largely to the Atlantic seaboard. In the central west there have been half a dozen minor walkouts during the past 10 days, with less than 100 men involved in each case, and without exception the strikers have returned to work after a day or two of idleness.

The question of what to do with the strikers will be one of the subjects considered at the meeting of brotherhood chiefs tomorrow.

IRISH STRIKE SPREADS

LONDON, June 23.—Reports to the Irish office today say that the Irish railway deadlock is spreading, owing to the refusal of railway men to operate trains with munitions troops or police aboard. No trains are leaving Liverpool, according to the reports. A driver was ordered to open his train when police boarded it at Athens, leaving the train on the main line.

Statewide Session at Sedalia Adopts Resolution Following Expose of Lowden Campaign Fund—Former Governor Hadley Reveals Campaign Expenditures of Past—Morse Is Also Fayed.

SEDALIA, Mo., June 24.—Missouri republicans, representing 15 of the 16 congressional districts of the state, met here today and adopted resolutions demanding the resignations of Jacob L. Babler, republican national committeeman from Missouri, and W. C. Cole, republican state chairman and "all other committee-men guilty of similar conduct" in connection with the pre-convention funds of candidates for the republican presidential nomination.

The resolutions also authorized the appointment of two committees, whose duty, in case of the failure of Cole and Babler to resign, it comes to lay all facts connected with the action of the meeting here today and activities of Babler and Cole, as divulged by the senate committee, investigation of pre-convention expenditures before the republican national committee and republican state committee, demanding the expulsion of Cole and Babler from the office which they now hold.

A letter written by Herbert S. Hadley, former governor of Missouri, to W. C. Pierce of Maryville, Mo., in which Mr. Hadley asserted the practice of obtaining money from presidential candidates was one which had been practiced since 1908 by republican politicians in Missouri was read at the meeting.

Mr. Hadley's letter said in part: "I am surprised that anyone should have been surprised at the disclosure of the fact that money was secured by the leaders of the Missouri republicans for which they were to deliver the Missouri delegation at the national convention. Many of these men have been engaged in the same practice for years. In 1908 they received money. I was told that the amount was $15,000 to deliver the delegation to Senator Fairbanks, and then, when they found the sentiment was strong for Taft, they 'laid down' on Fairbanks but kept his money. In 1912 they made the fight for the Taft delegation against Colonel Roosevelt. I am sure that they were engaged in the same practice then."

TULSA BANKER WARNS OF DANGER OF UNREST
AMONG FARMERS.FACTS ARE STARTLING
Offers Plan to Combat "Red" Movement—Must Give Tillers Fair Deal.

That the agricultural unrest making itself felt through the medium of the non-partisan league, the farmers' union, and other radical organizations, is not an imaginary menace in Oklahoma, was stated by N. R. Graham in his report on farm conditions at the meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the municipal building last night.

Here are the facts, according to Mr. Graham.

There are 30 automobiles being employed now in Oklahoma to spread the growth of the non-partisan league.

There is one county in the state where the socialists are in complete control, having a socialist in every county office.

A socialist newspaper has been launched in the state with 30,000 stockholders.

The farmers' union idea, the non-partisan idea, and actual bolshevism are really making headway.

"These evidences of unrest among the farmers are being mainly through the inability of the farmer to market his produce without an actual loss on the value of the time, labor, and money invested," the speaker declared.

His statement of prices of farm products so that the producer would realize a profit equal to the profits he had on the products of other industries, together with cooperation in the marketing of goods, was the solution Mr. Graham gleaned from his recent investigations of conditions particularly in the wheat market, he said.

Mr. Graham discussed the plan of the Oklahoma Bankers' association to foster and finance a great cotton growers' co-operative association to handle the marketing of the 1921 cotton crop. It is planned to enroll between 20,000 and 40,000 cotton growers and take charge of a crop of about 300,000 bales this year. On a projected basis, the association could float bonds and provide adequate warehouses to prevent loss to its members, and otherwise facilitate marketing under the most favorable conditions.

When the plan has established its worth to the cotton grower it will be extended to the entire agricultural industry, he said.

Through the advantages that the association would offer to the farmer its backers believe the farmer would see in it a means of helping himself and that it would prove an effective weapon against the spread of radicalism.

Operating similar to the co-operative marketing association which has been in operation among California fruit and vegetable growers for about 24 years, the plan would prove equally successful in Oklahoma, Mr. Graham predicted.

N. A. Thompson and C. A. Border, secretary, delivered their reports to the chamber on the national convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce held recently in St. Louis.

NEW YORK, June 24.—With the breaking of seals today on indictments charging 14 concerns and 50 individuals with fraud, government agents are beginning a nationwide roundup of alleged wildcat oil company promoters, said to have swindled the public out of millions within the last few months.

The defendants—oil companies, brokerage concerns and their officers and salesmen—are charged with using the mails to defraud. They are alleged to have made gross misrepresentations and to have paid impressive dividends out of receipts on stock sales.

In one case, the indictments charged, salesmen disposing of stock of the Crown Oil company falsely represented that a son of former President Roosevelt was an officer of the company, which, it was claimed, would soon rival the Standard Oil company.

Shares of the company, according to one indictment, were sold to investors in Chicago at $25 a share, and "to evade the western blue sky law" later was disposed of here at 7 1/2 cents a share.

FOR SHORT PLATFORM

Vice President Marshall Would Write It on Post Card; Is Not Candidate, He Announces.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Vice President Marshall made known last night that his activities during the democratic national convention would be directed toward working as a delegate at large from Indiana for a safe and sane platform.

"Put good men on it and let him go to it," he added.

On his arrival this evening from Del Monte, Cal., the vice president said he was not a candidate for office.

He said he would like to have the platform brief and explicit. Disclaiming knowledge of any move to place him on the resolutions committee or make him chairman of it, he said:

"If I were making up the platform I would write it on a post card and in such terms that if we were wrong the whole country would know it."

Mr. Marshall said he did not anticipate any serious prohibition issue. "My personal views on this question are unchanged," he continued. "I was not in favor of prohibition originally, but it is incorporated in the constitution and it should be observed."

HIT WIFE BY MISTAKE

Texas Switchman Kills Mate in St.
Louis Cafe—Meant to Kill Companion—Wounds Self Fatally.

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—John W. Stephens, 32, a switchman at Mart, Tex., shot and killed his wife, Leanne, 22, in a cafe here late today, then fired a bullet into his left breast. He is not expected to live.

In a signed statement to the police, Stephens said that the shot which killed his wife was intended for an unidentified man, with whom she had just entered the cafe.

Stephens, according to the statement, was waiting in the cafe for his wife, who was to bring her marriage certificate, which he had demanded that she return to him on account of her association with the other man.

Mrs. Stephens' companion ran as soon as the shot was fired, according to the statement, and Stephens, realizing that his wife was dead, turned the revolver on himself.

There were no witnesses to the shooting. Stephens, according to the police, was a machine gunner in the 31st division, and saw service in France. The couple were married here in March.

"Toughest Kid"
Given Verdict
in Libel Award

NEW YORK, June 24.—A jury decided here today that William McAdoo was not "the toughest kid in Hell's Kitchen" and awarded him $15,000 damages against the Russell Sage Foundation and publishers of a book entitled "Boyhood of Lawless Men" in which this picture appears over this caption:

In asking $10,000 damages, the boy's complaint set forth that in 1914 a photographer appeared in the Hell's Kitchen district where he lived and took his picture on the ground that he wanted "boy scout pictures." McAdoo, who now is aged, said he was an altar boy in St. Ambrose church then and has never been arrested or charged with delinquency.

In denying a motion to set aside the verdict, Justice Ford said:

"There is not a scintilla of evidence that he was tough at all. It is a wicked libel."

"That is the great trouble with these movements. They think that where there is poverty there must be criminality. As a matter of fact, the boys of the tenements are the most law-abiding and the most honest in the section pictured in this book will be found more Christian piety, more devotion to duty, more of the sterling qualities of humanity than will be found in the mansions along Fifth avenue."

"These people from their great heights of self-conscious righteousness and superior excellence peer down on and discuss these humble beings as though they were so many cobblestones in the street, without any regard at all for their feelings or their rights in the community."

POLICE HUNT 2
DARING ROBBERSRob Filling Station and

Auto Chase.

DRAGNET THROWN OUT

Squads of Officers Scour
City for Bandits in Small Roadster.

The police dragnet was thrown over the city shortly after 10 o'clock last night following the robbery of The Texas Company's filling station at West Fifth street and Jackson avenue, near the West Fifth street car barn. Squads of officers scoured the city in automobiles and every highway leading out of the city was carefully watched. The robbers had not been captured at an early hour this morning.

Two unmasked men entered the filling station as the attendant, Giles Dawson, 403 South Cincinnati avenue, was checking up the day's receipts, preparatory to closing for the night.

Using the shop-worn and off-repeated salutation, "Stuck 'em up," the bandits forced Dawson into a closet and bolted the door. Quickly rifling the cash register they secured $163 in checks, $50 in currency and a large amount of silver which had not been counted, according to Dawson's report to the police.

A motor party in a heavy closed car returning from West Tulsa, approached the scene as the bandits ran from the building towards a waiting Buick roadster. The hasty actions of the men indicated something was wrong, according to one of the party, which included two men and their wives, and they followed the fleeing car.

We followed them as best we could," he said, "but they zig-zagged up one street and down another and it was difficult to follow them with our heavy car. We were close behind them and if we had been armed no doubt could have captured them or at least have punctured their tires."

The chase was given up when the robbers dashed south on Boulder avenue, turning east on Eleventh and were lost in the traffic on Main street.

WATERBURY, Conn., June 23.—A bomb exploded early this morning in the cellar of a house on Railroad Hill street which is occupied by many workers, who had refused to join the local strike.

It was later ascertained that the bomb was hurled through a window of a sleeping room, blowing out all the windows of the house and ripped one side of the house asunder. The explosion occurred about 2:30 a. m.

Only Candidate Present More

Party Declarations.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Despite W. G. McAdoo's announcement that he would not be a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, his name recurs very frequently in gossip in national convention circles. The McAdoo boom appears to be a dead end, but the attitude of Mr. McAdoo himself.

On the surface, McAdoo supporters have accepted his dictum and publicly transferred their allegiance to other candidates. There is something about their alacrity, however, that makes other democrats wonder whether they will "stay put" in their own affiliations.

Privately, some former McAdoo supporters admit they have not lost hope that he will be the nominee. The business of the convention is to nominate a man who can be elected, they say.

They regard the republican ticket and platform as "encouraging" from a democratic point of view and believe the brass tactics of politics will dictate McAdoo's nomination as the man who could be elected. They are shaping their present course, they admitted, in anticipation of the number of ballots, supporters of particular candidates would be asked to stick by him and to whom their support would go after that time.

Deadlock Seen.
Meanwhile representatives of other candidates have been busy mapping their campaigns. They also foresee a deadlock and it was indicated today that some thought was being given to the number of ballots, supporters of particular candidates would be asked to stick by him and to whom their support would go after that time.

Neighboring considerations, it is said, are apt to play a part in the course of delegates from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, when the expected breakup comes. Each state has a candidate in the field. Palmer from Pennsylvania, Cox from Ohio, and John W. Davis from West Virginia. Should early balloting make apparent the lack of support for any one candidate, a general surge toward Davis under the impetus furnished by these powerful blocks of votes.

Arrival of Senator Glass of Virginia added nothing today to the discussion as to candidates.

Supporters of Vice President Marshall for the nomination looked at the situation today much as did the Davis adherents. They thought Marshall would figure very prominently if a deadlock developed, and their plans were drawn with that in mind. The vice president arrived tonight.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24.—Recommendations for a settlement of the strike of refinery workers at Sand Springs, Tulsa county, announced this afternoon by the state board of arbitration, include the restoration of striking employees at the same salaries and classes of vocational employment of persons considered objectionable by the company.

Copies of the recommendation will be sent tomorrow to the striking employees and to the refining company, Claude E. Connally, state commissioner of labor, said tonight. The employees already have agreed to abide by the recommendations, he said, but the refining company has not made such an agreement.

The committee to decide upon reinstatement of former employees considered objectionable by the company is to be composed of three persons selected by employees, one by the employer and a third to be agreed upon by the other two, all to be selected within five days. Each individual case is to be considered separately by the committee, it was recommended.

No distinction between union and non-union men are to be made under the plan of settlement reported, Connally said.

The cause of the strike was a disagreement over the discharge of an employee and the interpretation of the former working agreement. Connally said, the wage question not entering into it. New men were brought in by the company to continue work after the strike. Because many of the strikers were home owners in Sand Springs, it was stated, the question of their reinstatement had become vital to them.

Settlement of the strike by the board tomorrow, it was announced.
